

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

OBJECTIVE

The FSAA introduced the industry scholarship program in 2013 where an employee of a member company has an opportunity to further develop their career in management.

APPLICANTS

Middle management within the Foodservice supply market with a focus on marketing and sales related disciplines. However, all levels of management will be considered.

GENERAL

An annual prize. Applications to be submitted by May 31st each year, finalists notified by end June, final interviews to be held by August and winner announced at the National Awards of Excellence in September.

“ I have had two promotions within my company and I have taken on more responsibility. Give it a go... it's a great experience!! ”

Fiorella Boretti
2022 Recipient

CRITERIA

The following criteria is applied:

- Member company exclusive
- Written applications accepted as a first stage
- Winner must be able to take up the prize i.e. time away from work
- Applications vetted by a selected panel of three independent people
- The selection panel not to include any person from the same company as an applicant
- Three finalists selected to be interviewed individually by the panel (questions to be decided by the panel)
- Finalists to be guests at the National Awards of Excellence
- Winner announced by FSAA Chairperson and Sponsor at the awards

Prize

A one-week, live-in senior management course at Melbourne Business School - Mt. Eliza, Australia's leading such institution.

The following is reflective of the target applicants: state sales manager, business manager, national account manager, product/category manager, communications manager etc.